

Bad Girls

Some time ago we were in a couple's theater watching a DVD. The title was forgettable. I am sure it ended in a number higher than 10. The setup of each scene was the same. There was a girl seated in front of the camera. She answered some silly questions, then began to masturbate as she was instructed to. Literally... instructed to. "Now stick two fingers in. Now slap it." After a few minutes of watching her jab herself, a naked male torso would appear, already hard and she would begin to blow him, moving on to the sex scene. Never once did you see the guy's face. Never once did you have any sense that the two of them were into each other, never once did it look like anybody was having much fun.

The best sex (although as a male, I shouldn't admit it) is almost always accompanied by the best foreplay. The best porn understands that and takes the viewer along as the senses are stirred and the passions are aroused. One of the best movies at building to a sex scene is Bad Girls. Although the movie was released in 1981, it still stands as one of my favorite movies and a strong recommendation for couples who are just becoming interested in porn. The movie boasts 4 good-looking women who had never before appeared in a porn movie. One of them was billed as Pia Snow, though today she is better known as the softcore scream queen Michelle Bauer. These women are exhibitionists and love to tease. In fact, it is their teasing that gets them into trouble. After picking up a boy scout in the woods and flashing him mercilessly, they let him go, giggling about the state they have left them in. But these bad girls soon learn that they will have to pay for their ways and they are more than willing to face the consequences.

Bad Girls a movie with a large cast, a reasonable budget, fairly good acting and a story line that actually makes (a little) sense. Best of all, you get to enjoy the slow build up that leads to each scene. By the way ladies, there is even some voyeuristic pleasure for you in this first-rate film.
