

With Another Couple at the CVE

Contributed by Alex

Believe it or not, this is the first time we actually ever set up a time to go play with someone else. We have had dinner with a couple of couples, but this was the first time we went out with the intention of doing something and actually have it all come together. We had planned to meet for dinner. I will skip all of those details except to say that next time we need to plan our restaurant strategy a little better. Too many long lines on a Saturday night! We enjoyed getting to know one another a little bit during the meal - and during a long conversation afterward. They are very new to all of this, so there was some nervousness. While we have a little more experience than they do, we were grateful for the chance to chat. We found that we have a lot in common. Both of us guys like watching and both of the ladies like teasing and being watched.

Eventually we made our way over to the CVE. They had gone once before, but were looking forward to having someone "show them the ropes". We went with no expectations and a clear understanding that there would be no pressure. The wife had told us that she was shy, and her husband was concerned that she be comfortable. Wise man.

Needless to say, two couples coming in together will get noticed. As we made our way to an open row of seats in the theater there was the usual shuffling around. There was another couple in the back. In fact, the lady was seated between two men, so a fair number of guys hung back in that area. We took our time, watching the movie, making the occasional wise crack and generally waiting for everyone to relax. Lauren and I began some harmless kissing and a little touching. Nothing outrageous. I didn't want to signal anything to the vultures and I was trying to be sensitive to our new friends. I didn't need to worry. At one point I looked up and the wife had unzipped her sweater, revealing her large breast. I should point out that she is VERY well endowed and has some great nipples. I told Lauren to hold her hand, just to encourage her a bit. As I exposed Lauren's breasts I noticed several guys had moved to new seats. One even gave us a "thumbs up" as he watched the show from the other side of the aisle.

After a little bit of touching and flirting in the theater, we took a break and headed for the smoking area. While we were there, Lauren playfully unzipped the other wife's sweater. All the way. Seems that this particular sweater has an uncooperative zipper. The lady tried to zip up, but she couldn't. Lauren tried to help, but wasn't having much success. Eventually they headed to the ladies room to take care of things. We found out later that they exchanged a kiss or two while they were in there! Guess we can't see EVERYTHING.

After they got pulled back together we walked around the sales area for a while. Now THAT was informative. By the time we were done, we had a pretty good idea of what everybody was into, what we might like to try, and with whom we might like to try it! There was an attractive clerk who checked in on us a couple of times. Her smile told me that we should definitely arrange a conversation with her in the future. As Lauren said later, "We could have fun with her!"

We spent a little time in the couples room, touching a bit more; and then we headed back to the booths. Those of you who know these places can imagine the crowd that gathered, following our every move. Lauren and her new friend walked ahead of the other husband and me, stopping occasionally to check out a particular video. They actually stepped into a booth for a minute. The genius in the booth next door reached through the glory hole. Lauren slapped his hand - several times. Rather than pull his hand back, he eventually stuck his dick through. That got slapped, too!

We wound up in a booth with a closed door where we took advantage of a little privacy to get to know one another a bit better. While Lauren is definitely bi, the other lady had never done much with women. It was obvious that she enjoyed Lauren kissing her and sucking her breasts. Both ladies got plenty of attention for a bit, then treated us to some head - each lady on her own husband.

All in all a great night. Lauren and I made love a couple of times when we got home that night, and started in again early the next morning! We can't wait to get back together with them and see where things take us